

Master of Public Health with a Concentration in Population Health

Master of Public Health with a Concentration in Population Health

Including the Fast Track Program, Accelerated Bachelors/Masters (ABM), and Online Degree Program

The MPH in Population Health is a generalist degree that will train students to plan, design, implement, monitor, and evaluate public health programs. This individualized track will allow students to pursue a public health degree that can be tailored to their own interests and career goals.

Requirements	Hours
MPH Core Requirements: (14 hours)
PUH 601 This is Public Health	3
PUH 602 Community Assessment	3
PUH 603 Quantitative Methods in Public Health	3
PUH 604 Programs and Policies	3
PUH 607 Public Health Professional Passport	1
ENH 690 Environmental Health Perspectives	1
Population Health Degree Requirement: (3 hours)
PUH 610 Population Health	3
Approved Electives: (19-20 hours)
Select 19-20 hours of 600-level or higher courses	19-20
Applied Practice Experience: (3 hours)
PUH 688 Public Health Internship	3
Integrative Learning Experience: (2-3 hours)
HB 689 Health Behavior Integrative Learning Experience	2 or ENH 689 Environmental Health Sciences Integrative Learning Experience or HPO 689 HPO Integrative Learning Experience
Total Credit Hours:	42

Upon admission into the program and under the guidance of their program coordinator, students will pick five unique competencies that best fit their personal and professional goals from amongst courses offered in each of the Departments.